

Computational Design in Architecture

Transfer of System Performance Principles into an Computational Design Tool for Developing Architectural Situations

